

Elaine Theresa Gaccetta

was born in Welby in 1941 to Dominic and Louise Gaccetta, truck farmers. Elaine was educated in Mapleton Public schools, attending Washington School (now Boyer's Coffee) and then Mapleton High School where she graduated in 1959—the first full class to go through Mapleton. In 1969, Elaine married Larry Valente and moved to Westminster where they made their home and raised two children, son Dino and daughter Gina.

Elaine was always involved in her community serving on a multitude of boards and commissions including many education committees. In 1988, after becoming quite dissatisfied with the direction that Adams County was going, Elaine stood up and said, "I can do a better job!" ran for commissioner and she did. She was the first and only woman elected as a commissioner in Adams County's first century. She served four terms for a total of 16 years. Elaine's primary passions were helping children and fighting for the underdog. Elaine never forgot her roots in Welby and continually supported projects that improved and strengthened the Welby community and Adams County as a whole. Mapleton always remained near and dear to Elaine's heart because of all the wonderful times she spent there and the lifelong friendships forged. Elaine would be proud to know as part of her legacy she is continuing to give back to the community she called home.
